

Brier

COMMUNITY PROFILE

Brier is a small, suburban, residential town located about 15 miles north of the city of Seattle, in Snohomish County. The population is approximately 6,500.

The City government consists of about 17 employees, working in three public services departments. Brier is 2.13 square miles with approximately 27 miles of streets and roads.

Throughout the City of Brier's history, development has resulted in an area characterized by large home sites, wooded and semi-rural in nature.

The philosophy of the City is to continue to retain and maintain the basic, original, spacious and semi-rural wooded character of the areas and to remain relatively small, simple and intimate, with a minimum of regulation and taxation. It is intended that future development of Brier will be consistent and harmonious with the established pattern.
